

Corporate Biography

Jillian Enoch

Jillian Enoch is Policy Director for Retirement and Healthcare for Fidelity Investments, a leading provider of investment management, retirement planning, portfolio guidance, brokerage, benefits outsourcing, and other financial products and services to more than 37 million individuals, institutions, and financial intermediaries.

In close cooperation with the business, legal, government relations and thought leadership at Fidelity, Ms. Enoch analyzes public policy proposals impacting employee benefits such as retirement, healthcare, student debt, emergency savings and other benefits, to develop firm positioning, strategic communications, and advocacy strategies.

Prior to joining Fidelity, Ms. Enoch spent over a decade working on retirement policy, investment advice standards, and tax compliance matters at the Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association (SIFMA), a leading financial services trade association.

Ms. Enoch earned her Master of Public Policy from George Mason University and earned her B.S. in International Business from the University of Maryland. She also earned a certificate from the Securities Industry Institute, and executive education program at The Wharton School.